
EDITORIAL

Editorial board and peer reviewer acknowledgement 2013

Bart Green, DC, MEd, Editor-in-Chief

Producing the Journal of Chiropractic Education is a team effort. Thus, I wish to extend a heartfelt thank you to the peer reviewers, editorial board, authors, and production staff who work so diligently to produce the journal.

Our dedicated cadre of peer reviewers ensures that each published manuscript meets rigorous academic and scientific standards. I thank the peer reviewers for the 2012–2013 year who volunteered their time to critique submitted manuscripts. Reviewers were as follows:

Ana Paula Albuquerque-Facchinato

Barclay Bakkum

Rick Branson

David Byfield

Alana Callendar

Cindy Chapman

Robert Cooperstein

Matthew Funk

Brian Gleberzon

Christopher Good

Julie-Marthe Grenier

Heidi Haavik

Cheryl Hawk

Xiaohua He

Mark Hecimovich

Sean Herrin

Claire Johnson

HanSuk Jung

Charmaine Korporral

Alexander Lee

Kathleen Linaker

Anna Livdans-Forret

John Mayer

Marc McRae

Christopher Meseke

Thomas Milus

John Mrozek

Dave Newell

Valerie Nichols

Anthony Onorato

Robert Percuoco

Lisa Rubin

Christine Schutz

Randy Swenson

Rodger Tepe

Robert Ward

Michael Wiles

Kenneth Young

The editorial board continues to provide sage advice in matters related to the journal. I turn to the board for critical input regarding a vast array of issues, such as change with the journal, potential ethical misconduct cases, and quality control. The members of the editorial board are also volunteers. The editorial board, listed on the journal's masthead in the front of the journal and on our web site, has international representation, which helps improve the relevance, quality, and access of the journal to a broad audience of educators. The diversity of the board continued to grow this year, with new representatives from South Africa, Latin America, and North America, to whom we extend a warm welcome.

The readers are the greatest source of input to the Journal of Chiropractic Education. Many of our improvements are a result of requests by the readership, and we value your feedback. The journal continues to evolve, and your participation is welcome. If you have an idea for the journal or would like to participate in some way, please feel free to contact me by e-mail (JChiroEd@aol.com).